OFFICIAL BOARD COMPLETING COUNT OF TUESDAY'S ELECTION RETURNS

Will Likely Finish Work Today With But Few Changes in Published Vote

ANDERSON PHILOSOPHICAL

Takes Defeat Graciously and Congratulates Judson on His Election to Represent District in Senate.

The official board appointed by the court to canvass the election returns of Washington county will probably complete its work today. Yesterday the count for Governor, Congress, State Senator and Assembly was completed, which reversed the result announced Thursday that A. H. Anderson, Republican, had won out for State Senate by a plurality of 65. The final official count shows that Judson, the Democratic-Keystone candidate, has a plurality in the district of 94. Berry leads Tener for Governor by 598 plurality. Matthews leads Wilson for Congress by 333 plurality, and Bentley's plurality over Post, his Democratic-Keystone opponent, is 289. Following is the official count:

Governor

Tener, R.	7,473
Tener, W. L.	48
Grim, D.	742
Larkin, P.	251
Slayton, S.	737
Berry, K.	8,119

Congress

Matthews, R.	7,852
Wilson, D.	1,737
Wilson, K.	5,782

Anderson, R.	8,112
Judson, D.	1,752
Judson, K.	5,649

Assembly

Bentley, R.	7,708
Holland, R.	7,094
Holland, K.	5,466
Feeney, R.	7,073
Feeney, K.	5,600
Post, D.	1,652
Post, K.	5,789

Pluralities

Berry	598
Matthews	333
Anderson	711
Bentley	289

Mr. Anderson took his defeat philosophically and congratulated his opponent, J. Carter Judson. When the final result was announced Mr. Anderson issued the following statement:

"The result by the official count gives Mr. Judson a plurality and I have already tendered him my warmest congratulations. One should not enter into a political contest without realizing the uncertainty of it and with the determination to be disappointed at the result. I wish to thank all my friends for their enthusiastic support and especially my comrades of the Tenth Pennsylvania, both here and in Greene county for the unswerving loyalty and most effective work. Their disappointment at the result is my greatest regret and I appreciate their interest in my behalf more than any office or honor that could be conferred.

BARELY ESCAPED ARREST

A clew is being investigated today in the theft of the horse Sunday from Roley's livery barn that may lead to the recovery of the animal and the arrest of the man who is charged with the deed. Yesterday James Allison came from Waynesburg, and while here said that a man answering the description of the one supposed to be guilty of taking the horse spent Monday night in Waynesburg, and tried to dispose of the animal and rig there In so doing he narrrowly escaped arrest. He left early the next morning but what direction he went is a mystery.

DONORA TO GET FREE DELIVERY

Houses Being Numbered and Sidewalks Being Laid

HEAVY POSTAL RECEIPTS

With sidewalks laid properly over the town and houses numbered Donora will shortly be ready for free delivery, an innovation for which the citizens of that place have waited vainly for the past six years. Donora has been entitled to free delivery for that time so far as postal receipts are concerned, but the town has been lacking in sidewalks and numbers on the houses. Borough Engineer E. Jay Iams recently completed an official numbering plan, which was adopted by council, and the work of numbering the houses is now going on. Sidewalks have been laid on nearly all the graded streets.

GOVERMENT LOCKS PUT OUT OF USE BY ACID IT THE WATER

Navigation Hindered by Destructive Tendencies of Discharge from Mines Along the Valley.

Not only does the acid in the river destroy boilers of boats and make the water almost unusuable, but it has been an active force in disabling some of the fine government locks, by eating the metal in the valves by which the lock chambers are filled and emptied and thus putting them out of commission. Lock No. 3 is one of these which has been recently disabled. Temporary repairs have been made so that navigation will not be entirely suspended at Lock No. 3, where the United States steamer Slackwater is making repairs. On this work a submarine diver is employed. The valves must be bulkheaded up, removed and repaired one at a time. They are found to be in bad shape from the acid. Many of the boats are now condensing the water they use in their boilers to save them from being eaten out by the acid. Many carry water tenders with them.

SUPPOSED ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE UNSUCESSFUL

Monessen Woman Said to Have Taken Poison as a Means of Ending Her Mortal Existence

GIVES NO REASON FOR UNWISE DEED

After having tried to commit suicide, it is said, by taking oil of cloves containing chloroform, Mrs. Mary Gilland, 21 years old, giving her residence as Monessen, is in the Monessen-Charleroi hospital and will likely live. The young woman, suffering terribly, was discovered by William Schick, of Monessen about 11 o'clock last night on the Monessen-Charleroi bridge, and she was brought to the office of Dr. J. K. Smith here, where the poison was removed from her stomach and she taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Gilland refused to give any reason for her act. At the doctor's office, it is stated, she said she was married and had three children, but had not been living with her husband, who is employed at East Charleroi. It is thought that domestic infelicity bought on the supposed suicidal attempt.

Word from the hospital this morning was to the effect that she was getting along all right and had every chance to recover. She was discovered just in time, and had not the prompt medical attention been given, the supposed attempt at self-destruction would have been successful.

AFFIDAVITS OF DEFENSE ARE FILED

Litigations at California Over Second Street Matter

Affidavits of defense have been filed in the prothonotary's office by Max Avner, C. Wesley Yarnell, Anna E. Bilingsley, Edward B. Gallagher and Mary L. Harrison, who were sued by the borough of California for municipal claims. In their defense, the defendants claim that the borough of California made improvements on Second avenue without the consent of two-thirds of the property owners. Several points in the statement of the plaintiff borough are disputed. The defendants are represented by Walter G. Powell, Donnans, Brownson and Miller.

Friends Give Shower

Miss Jennie Van Straten, who shortly is to become the bride of P. L. Watkinson, of Charleroi, was tendered a shower by a number of her friends at her new home on Fifth street Wednesday evening. The evening was spent with various amusements, dancing and "500" being the principal diversions. Several were present from Monongahela and other out-of-town places.

DRESSED TURKEYS MAY BE CHEAPER

Local Meat Dealer Predicts Drop in Price Below That of Last Year

FOR THANKSGIVING DINNER

"It looks as though dresed turkeys would be somewhat lower in price Thanks-giving time this year," said a local meat dealer this morning. "The price of chickens is below what it has been for some time and indications are that turkeys will not sell for so much as they did last year."

Turkeys over the country have been selling at 30 cents dressed and many dealers do not look for a drop in price, but the shipments of fowls from Greene county and West Virginia is expected to be effective in lowering the price.

GLASS MEN FINED FOR VIOLATIONS

Imperial Officials Enter Plea of Nolo Contender

JUDGE SCORES COMBINE

The Imperial Window Glass company, recently organized for the control of the hand blown window glass factories of the country with headquarters in Pittsburg, and which was prosecuted in United States court under the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law, entered a plea of no defense. This action took place in the Federal court in Pittsburg yesterday. Judge Young, the presiding justice, severely scored the corporation which had admittedly combined to control and monopolize trade, and imposed a fine of $500 on each of the officers and directors and fined the corporation as a whole $2,500. The Imperial Window Glass company embraces all the independent factories in this section of the State.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON CLUBS HAS SESSION

Mrs. A. C. Piper was the hostess as the regular fortnightly meeting of the Friday afternoon club at California yesterday afternoon. An interesting session was held. The entire time was devoted to fancy work. There were to have been reports made on the State Federation meeting but the appointed delegates had been unable to attend.

CHARLEROI SCHOOLS HAVE LARGE NUMBER OF PUPILS IN ATTENDANCE

Enrollment Boosted to 1912, as Shown by Second Month's Report of Supertendant

NEW TEACHER IS ELECTED

Will Take Place of Miss Davis, Resigned, in Seventh Grade of the Fifth Street School.

With just a quorum present at a called meeting of the school board last night, a successor to Miss Anna Davis, the Seventh grade teacher in the Fifth street school, who recently resigned, was elected and a report from Superintendent James G. Pentz for the second month of school was heard. Other unimportant matters were discussed.

Miss Elma Fuester of Belle Vernon was elected to serve in Miss Davis' place as teacher. She has been substituting since the resingation of Miss Davis a few weeks ago.

By the report of Supt. Pentz the total enrollment in the grades and in the high school was 1,912, of this number 1,848 being in the grades and 84 in the high school. The per cent of attendance in the schools for the month is 96 per cent, and for the term is the same. During the month there were 25 absent on account of contagious diseases, and 181 remained out of school voluntarily to assist in home work. One of the features of the report is the calls made on parents by teachers, 33 of these having been made. Seventy visits to the schools were made by parents and patrons. There are now 30 non-resident pupils in attendance, about the same number as at the beginning of the term.

A report of the truant officer, Gilbert Uptegraft, included in that of Supt. Pentz, showed that 235 cases of absentees were investigated during the month, only two of which were absent without legal excuse. Four prosecutions were made against parents for keeping their children out of school.

WILL PAVE ROSCOE STREETS AND LAY NUMBER OF SEWERS

Roscoe borough is getting ready for the making of extensive street improvements, the money for which will be secured through a bond issue. On Tuesday the voters of the borough passed by a large majority a proposition authorizing the issuing of bonds to the amount of $224,000. This sum will be expended in grading and paving streets, and sewering the same.

How to Come Back

"Coming Back," is an expression that has a special significance these days. It is applied to those who, beaten and defeated in the objects and aims of life, are enabled to make a new start along different lines, and to achieve success, independence and comfort in old age. "The Man who Came Back" is a popular newspaper and magazine topic these days.

Theoretical as it may appear, the subject is worthy of serious consideration by those who find life a constant struggle. To these in most cases, there is a way out if they have but the courage to take the step that will lead them to comfort, independence and a simple and sane life. This is to go back to the soil, to get possession of a piece of land, and to produce from it the necessities and essentials of life. It can be done at the present time with less hardships and fewer self-denials that our forefathers endured in settling up this country, and of whose records we are so proud—to view from a distance.

With a piece of land every man is architect of his own fortune. A good living from it is only a matter of intelligent application and persistent effort, less than is expended by the worker for hire. There are no industrially depressions or panics to interfere with a living, no strikes or lockouts to intervene, and every man who so applies his labor has the full fruits of his own toil. Thousands of toilers in mill, mine and office who are fighting constantly for an existence can "come back" in this way if they have but the courage. All this is lacking is a choice between a competency and the false standard of living that makes peple virtual slaves.

Tener as Governor

"Edwin S. Stuart became Governor after a stormy campaign, which followed the exposures of the State Capitol frauds," says the Philadelphia Inquirer. "Much of the same element that opposed Tener opposed Stuart. The argument against him was that a Republican could not be trusted. Mr. Stuart's pledge was to go to the bottom of the capitol frauds and give Pennsylvania an honest and progressive administration. He kept every promise. Pennsylvania has presented to the entire country a model of good government.

"John K. Tener will succeed Governor Stuart. Mr. Tener has been assailed throughout the campaign but he too, like Stuart, made his pledges. Tener has pledged the people that he will give them an honest and progressive administration; that it shall be maintained on the plane of integrity aimed at by Governor Stuart; that he will serve the interests of the people not of individuals.

"The Inquirer believed that Stuart meant every word that he said and supported him—and Stuart won. The Inquirer believes that Tener means every word that he has said and it has supported him—and Tener has won.

"Throughout the nation the Republican party has been given a serious drubbing. Pennsylvania presents one of the few brihgt spots. But even in Pennsylvania the combined vote of Berry and Grim is greater than that given by the straight Republicans. The Republican party therefore is in a measure on trial. It has escaped the disaster that has befallen is many other Republican States. It must justify itself. And we believe that it will, through its representatives at Harrisburg, Governor Tener and the Legislature."

Party Allegiance

No doubt many who voted the Keystone ticket will be considering whether to remain with that party, if it endures, or to return to their former allegiances. As a matter of fact it is now generally believed that the most of the voters will return to their former party affiliations as there seems to be no disposition to perpetuate a Keystone organization in many of the localities where it showed up strongly at the recent election. The indications are that another campaign will witness the most of the voters back again in the two old parties.

Both the Republican and Democratic parties will at once take steps to repair the damage done to their party organizations by the recent sweep of insurgency. Each will try to remove conditions that promted the revolt, and each will make an effort to bring out the best possible candidates for public office. The primaries will be watched closes, and more attention paid to the selection of delegates to representative conventions. This will interpose more opposition to the Keystone party if an attempt is made to perpetuate it, and to endure it must build up a machine and organization, which will in time engender strife and dissension, just as has happened with the older parties. This will require infinitely more effort than if the voters returned to their respective parties, and made their fight for reform at the primary elections. This is the logical course, and already there are signs that it will be followed by the majority of the voters who took part in the Keystone movement.

A MIGHTY REMEDY

Cures Backache, Sideache and all Kidney, Liver and Bladder or Money Back

Yes money back, that's the offer that W. F. Hennings the agent in Charleroi makes if Thompson's Barosma fails to cure any of the above named diseases.

And when you stop to think that's a wonderfully generous offer from the viewpoint of the afflicted, the sick and the suffering.

But the generous feature is cast aside when you learn that the makers of Thompson's Barosma aren't taking one-tenth the chance you think they are because they know from years of experience, and from thousands of cures and thousands of testmonials that Thompson's Barosma will absolutely and permanently cure all kidney, liver and bladder diseases.

So the money back offer is made simply to show quickly and conclusively that the makers of Thompson's Barosma have the utmost faith in the marvelous remedy.

So if you are ill, have the blues, have lost ambition, have backache or pains in you side, if your urine is high colored, and your eyes dull and complexion sallow the chances are that your kidneys are weak and clogged up and that your blood is full of impurities.

So why wait when Thompson's Barosma is guaranteed to restore your health. Get a bottle today at W. F. Hennings. They are two sizes 50 cents and $1.00

Five years ago Charles Schultz of Dunkirk, N. Y., was so weak and run down that he decided to give up his business. He took Barosma and in a few months he regained his health and gained 55 pounds in weight. Today he writes: I have been in perfect health ever since I wrote you five years ago."

Official Board Completing Count of Tuesday's Election Returns

"I also appreciate the large vote given me in my home section and the hard work of nearly all the precinct chairmen in my interest. To my opponent and his friends I have nothing but the heartiest thanks for the kind treatment I received from them all during the camaign. We should not let political matters interfere with personal friendships, for often a man has one or more friend candidates for the same office and if he is to lose the friendship of the one he does not support, he will be very apt to take no part or interest in the contest at all, and good government would thereby suffer, as it is highly important that every man should interest himself in his public officials.

"To have been the Senator representing the district of our distinguished Governor would have been a high honor, and while I have the greatest regret at not having it conferred upon me, yet I have long since learned that many things we most wanted, it is better in the end we should not have received. I made the best fight I possibly could, and believe in the words of our jurist-poet that "Reverse if in honor is victory won."

"ROYAL SLAVE" COMING TO THE COYLE

Like a fresh breath from the Southland is "A Royal Slave" the glorious southern romance which comes to the Coyle Theatre Monday night, November 14. It is a play that has been accepted as a drama of the highest standard, because of the intense interest which characteries it from curtain raise to curtain fall.

The many characters in the play are worthy of Dickens, that inimtiable creator of types, and the successful interpretation of the various roles demands as a requisite ability to deftly show a change from the deeply in earnest impetuous hot blooded Mexican vein almost instantly. This quality the members of the company bring to the impersonation of the various characters and invest them with a note of distinction softened and mellowed by true dignity. It is a triumph of character acting.

The company included a number of widely known players of ability and the play is mounted with the greatest of care to insure an absolutely perfect performance.

His Chance to Vote.

The chronicles of our vice presidents are notoriously barren of incident. This probably was the reason for the way Adlai Stevenson secured the exercise of a constitutional prerogative. It was one sleepy day toward the end of his term as vice president. The United States senate was plowing through the calendar and passing many bills. Bills are considered agreed to in the senate if no oral objection is raised after they have passed through the preliminary stages, but the usual form of asking for the yeas and nays is followed by the presiding officer. The vice president had said:

"Senators in favor of the bill will say 'Aye.'" Pause. "Contrary, 'No.'"

Not a single response.

"The vote is a tie," announced Mr. Stevenson.

The senator in charge of the bill paused on his way to the cloakroom and looked surprised.

"In case of a tie the vice president may cast the deciding vote. In the exercise of his constitutional privilege the vice president votes 'Aye.'"

The "Sun Drawing Water."

The phenomenon commonly known as the "sun drawing water" is due to rays of sunlight between the shadows of clouds. It is seen to best advantage when the atmosphere is somewhat hazy and when the sun is wholly or partly behind a cloud and is not in the higher part of the sky. Patchy stratocumulus clouds are most favorable for the formation of these rays, and they are probably most distinct when seen in the part of the sky below the sun, when they appear to extend either directly or somewhat obliquely downward. It is in this form that the effect is most commonly called the "sun drawing water." But such rays may extend in any direction, so that they diverge from the sun as a center. No rain need be falling anywhere near the observer, though it is not impossible for the rays to be visible at a time when rain streaks also are visible in part of the sky. The rain streaks, however, do not diverge from the sun, but are in lines of the falling rain.—St. Nicholas.

The Scleroscope.

This little American invention has been described as a kind of mechanical finger intended to discriminate by delicacy of touch between various substances submitted to it. The ready detection of the degree of hardness and elasticity of various surfaces is its special function. It consists essentially of a light weight, like the hammer of a pile driver, which is allowed to fall inside a tube placed upright on the surface to be tested. The bottom of the hammer, which weighs only a few grams, is finished with a blunted diamond, intended to give it the requisite hardness. After a fall it rebounds, and a carefully graduated scale on the tube, indicating the height of the rebound, shows the degree of hardness of the surface experimented with. On a piece of ordinary steel the hammer rebounds nine-tenths of the height of its fall.—Youth's Companion.

Women and the Commune.

"The mad fury which seemed to have taken possession of the mob in Paris found its most enthusiastic exponents in the women who were anxious to proceed to the extreme measures which the men deprecated," writes Lady St. Helier in her book "Memories of Fifty Years." "The organized corps de petroleuses were a savage crew, who had no feeling of pity or mercy in their hearts and would have sacrificed even those they loved most dearly to the cause which they had espoused. They co-operated actively with the commune, deluging what public buildings they could with petroleum and then setting light to them, and most of the fires that broke out in Paris on the entry of the troops originated through their action. They went down into the streets and fought at the barricades, showing superhuman courage, and when one of the great fights took place at the barricade in the Rue de la Paix, which was defended by the communists, the first person to mount it and to hoist the red flag of the revolution was a woman."

Cutting Off Noses.

Rameses II. of Egypt cut off the nose of any person convicted of treason or arson. Actisanes, another Egyptian ruler, punished robbers in the same way. After each nose had been amputated back even with the bridge the culprit was sent to a colony of noseless felons, the place of banishment being known as Rhinoconum, from the nature of the punishment its colonists had undergone.

In England in 1671 Lord Coventry, then "great keeper of the British seal," had his nose cut off by order of the king because he had dared to ask some questions about an actress then playing at Drury Lane theater.

A conscript who protested openly that he had been enrolled in the army of Frederick the Great in a fraudulent manner had his nose amputated by order of that sovereign, who spoke of the punishment as an "indelible mark on the front side of the face."

Demonstrative.

Old Lady (speaking of her late husband)—I mind the last time we was out together, and he turns round and sez, so kindlike, "Come along, old draggle-tail!" he sez.—London Tit-Bits.

AMONG THE THEATRES

The Palace—Charleroi.

"The Rough Riders" was the title of strong photo play at the Palace Theatre this week. It was a pretty romance of the Cuban campaign of the Spanish-American war. The story was that of a young volunteer in the Rough Riders who bade his sweetheart adieu to go and fight for his country. At the battle of Kettle Hill the young lieutenant is wounded, so badly that the surgeons give him up. but a Red Cross nurse declares that she will save him, and nurses the young soldier back to life. He falls in love with his fair nurse, marries her and returns home. There he meets his first sweetheart, who is heartbroken over her lover's perfidy. The old flame revives, and the young man writes a letter, proposing to his first love to elope. Sitting in the glow of the firelight, he rebuffs his wife when she approaches him and she retires. Pondering deeply upon the step he is about to take the young man takes the letter he has written from his pocket and re-reads it. Slowly there rises before him a picture of his hospital experience when he was nursed back to life by the devotion of the girl he married, and he tears the letter in two and commits it to the flames. There were other strong features every night, as well as good illustrated and spot light songs and orchestral music.

The Coyle—Charleroi

A strong feature has been secured for the Coyle Theatre in Charleroi next week. This is "A Royal Slave," a Mexican romance, which will be presented Monday night, November 14. It may be of interest to know that an actual incident furnished the author of "A Royal Slave" with the initial idea out of which this great play was evolved. The little item of news appeared in the daily papers at that time. It is as follows:

A wealthy Mexican gentleman who was known to possess a vast hidden estate suddenly disappeared and was finally given up by his family. Several years later a gang of celebrated bandits were surprised and captured in their stronghold and a poor insane man rescued. He was taken to a hospital in the City of Mexico where an operation of trepanning the skull was performend on him, his reason returning. He proved to be the long lost gentleman who had been captured by the bandits, who, in trying to force him to the the hiding place of his fortune had struck him a blow on the head which dinted the skull and rendered him insane. He had been a captive for years, the bandits hoping that he might remember in his half lucid moments the much coveted secret hiding place and reveal it.

The Alvin—Pittsburg.

Lew Field's mammoth musical production, "The Midnight Son," with practically the same cast which was seen for 3 weeks at the Broadway Theatre, New York, comes to the Alvin Theatre on Monday night. The play is truthfully said to be the biggest production, both scenically and in point of largeness of cast, of any musical play ever staged. The featured scene—there are ten in all—shows the tiers of boxes, the orchestra seats, the balcony and even the gallery of a practical theatre. It is this reproduction so faithfully carried out which has caused "The Midnight Sons" to be talked of from one end of the country to the other, much credit, of course, should be given to the principal performers who add so much to the interest and fun of the play. Some idea as to the extent of the wardrobe department may be gained from the fact that there are 80 members of the chorus, both boys and girls, while the cast of 125 people is augmented in each city by 200 supernumeraries, who are employed to take part in the theatre scene. The pieces will be given here in its entirety by the original metropolitan cast, including George Monroe, Harry Fisher, Maude Lambert, George A. Shiller, Denman Maley, Marcia Harris, Allan Brooks, Gus Bacci and a special vaudeville company, including the marvelous Millers, Gladys Moore, The English Pony Ballet and a number of other specialties. Matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday, the Wednesday matinee being for the benefit of the Home of the Good Shepherd.

New Duquesne—Pittsburg.

That great emotional success "Zira," which made a star out of Margaret Aglin and afforded her one of the most brilliant triumphs of her career, is to be the intensely dramatic offering at the Duquesne Theatre next week, where Mary Hall is to portray Miss Anglin's heart-touching and appealing role of Hester Trent. The full force of the Harry Davis Stock players will be utilized in the heavy cast of this play, with its open scenes on the battlefield of the Boer war and its later pictures of modern aristocratic London life. The story of the play is taken from Wilkie Collins' famous romance of "The New Magdalen," with its heroine, Mercy Merrick, brought up-to-date in the new character of Zira, or Hester Trent. Hester is a Red Cross nurse in the Transval at the opening of the play. She has had an unhappy past and the prospect of a happier future is suddenly blighted for her by the death of her father Mark Trent, scout in the British army, who falls in skirmish. It is then that the supreme temptation comes into the unfortunate Hester's life for a woman visitor to the British camp unexpectedly pays the penalty of her perilous journey through the lines by being shot down during a sudden bombardment by the enemy. Hester believes her to be dead, and in this great crisis of her life determines to assume the identity of the supposed slain woman. Circumstances enable her to do this most successfully, and she passes out of the camp, leaving—as she dreams—all of her past life behind her In her despair she does not consider that she has done any wrong to the victim of death. But the woman has not been killed. She is saved as if by miracle and returns, like a ghost, to confront the new, false Zira in the midst of her London surroundings. Mrs. Wheatcroft as Lady Clavering, Edson Miles as her son Gordon, Albert Morrison as Captain Sylvester and Dennis Harris as the scout, Mark Trent, will all have impersonation of deeply human import.

The Grand—Pittsburg

Notably artist, the Grand's program of vaudeville for the week beginning next Monday afternoon, November 14, Mr. William H. Thompson holds the place of honor upon the roaster. With the support of four other gifted players, he will present Mildred Aldrich's one act play entitled "The Cardinal's Stratagen."

The costumes and scenery coincide with the period protrayed and the action is intensely and emotionally dramatic. The supporting company includes Evangeline Irving, a sister of Isabelle Irving, Nella Neurnelle, Harriet Wright and Richard R. Neal.

The distinguished Hugarian pianist, Wlimos Westony will make his debut here. He has been a sensation in this country. Mr. Westony is an artist who has a marvelous command of the mechanics of the piano and a wonderful intellectual and interpretative power.

Clown Zertho and his canine comedians numbering some twenty shaggy dogs, will entertain with comedy and tricks. There are big and little dogs, dogs of every specie, but all under the benevolent direction of the funny clown, who has taught them to obey his very command and under those guidance they have developed an intelligence almost human.

Hoey and Lee, patterers and parodists will amuse in their Hebrew dialects.

Chassino, the world's greatest shadowaphist, by means of his dexterous digits and pedal extremities will fashion life-like silhouettes behind a sceen.

Numerous other artists will contribute to their talents to a program of distinctive classes—a program in which all acts dovetail and harmonize with the artistic headliner.

The Nixon—Pittsburg

At the Nixon Theatre beginning tomorrow evening and continuing throughout the week, F. Ziegfeld, Jr., will present his latest and most elaborate revue "The Follies of 1910." The revue of this season is in three acts and thirteen brilliantly illuminated scenes. Harry B. Smith supplied the book while Gus Edwards and many others composed the tuneful music. The work was staged by Julian Mitchell under the personal supervision of F. Ziegfeld, Jr., who promises an endless number of amazing surprises and startling novelties, the most important of which is a musical number rendered by Miss Lillian Lorraine and eight American beauties entitled "Swing Me High, Swing Me Low" in which Miss Lorraine swings over the heads of the audience while singing the song. Bickel and Watson's Roosevelt Band, is also said to be a highly diverting novelty, while Bert Williams, the celebrated colored comedian and singer never fails to please. Among the numerous and interesting stage pictures will be observed, "A View of New York From the Metropolitan Tower, "Office of the Get Poor Quick Syndicate," "A Street in a Reno" "Halley's Comet," posed by Miss Anna Held, "An Apple Blossom Grove" "Cafe del' Opera New York, "Jardin de Paris Summer and Winter Garden, New York," "A Model Hennery" "The Return of Roosevelt" and "A Dress Rehearsal of the Follies of 1910." The cast includes the names of more than 150 musical comedy players. In same will be noted such popular talent as Bickel and Watson, Bert Williams, Bobby North, William C. Sbrode, Billie Reeves, W. Wania, Imperial Russian Dancer, Dudley Oatman, Peter Swift, Max Schenck, Charles Hesson, Lillian Lorraine, Fanny Brice, Shirley Kellogg Vera Maxwell, Evelyn Carlton, Margaret Morris, Lillian St. Clair, Florence Gardner, Fanny Conway, Lottie Vernon, Arline Roley, Betty Neil, Daisy Virginia, May Hopkins, Evelyn Korner, Bessie Fennell, and seventy five Anna Held girls. Monday night for the first time Mr. Ziegfeld will introduce a skit on the famous Cavalieri-Chanler affair. Miss Lillian Lorraine will be seen as Lina, Harry Watson as Bob and George Bickel as the Count. During the engagement of the "Follies" there will be matinees on Wednesday and Saturday both of which will be popular prices.

Two Dimensional Vision.

Most people do not know that they ought to be very thankful for having both eyes in one plane instead of having them one on each side of the head. If the latter obtained no one could tell that an object had more than two dimensions until experience and the sense of touch educated the brain to it. Any one can try it for himself. Shut one eye and look at different objects. They appear flat. With binocular vision two views of each object are obtained and neither is exactly like the other, so the idea of depth comes in.

The most easily shown example of the difference is as follows: Take a ring and hold it about two feet from the eye. With one eye closed it will take at least five trials to thrust a pencil through the ring, whereas with both eyes open it can be done on the first trial.

All animals with eyes on opposite sides of the head labor under this disadvantage, as do all insects. It is called two dimensional vision, as the idea of depth is not possible. All this is on account of the image thrown on the retina of the eye being in only two dimensions.—Philadelphia Press.

Woodcarvers of Burma.

The woodcarvers of Burma are the most skilled in the world. They select and cut the best logs along the Irawaddy river in the dry season, and these are thrown into the shrunken stream. There they lie until the freshets of the rainy season lift them and bear them down to the populous cities below.

Then huge elephants are employed to drag the heavy logs from the stream and take them to the sawmills. They are then worked up into timbers suitable for the woodcarvers. The carvers use the figure of Buddha or some other emblem concerning the Buddhistic worship in the greater part. The details are worked out in a careful way.

Sterns of boats are carved in an elaborate manner, and some of them would be worth a fortune in this country. The prow of the boat is usually ornamented with a figurehead of very elaborate carving. The art of woodcarving is handed down in the families in Burma, the children being taught by their fathers.—Wichita Eagle.

Trial of a Dead Man.

Mr. Christopher Hare's book on "Charles de Bourbon, High Constable of France," mentions the strange trial which succeeded the close of that turbulent career. He had died in conquering Rome, which his leaderless soldiers straightway sacked. For this crime it was necessary to find a scapegoat, so "on July 26, 1527, in the presence of King Francois I., on his seat of justice, assisted by the peers of France and the assembled chambers, Jean de Surie, first usher of the court, called Charles de Bourbon three times—at the bar of the parliament, at the marble table and at the marble steps—and then reported that the said De Bourbon had not appeared. The sentence was drawn up, then solemnly read out: 'The connetable de France, dead, was condemned, his goods returned to the crown, and the door of his palace by the Louvre was painted yellow.'"

A Realistic Picture.

A still life by Jan van Huysen in the museum at The Hague was injured, but it is believed that the perpetrator was neither vandal nor thief. The picture represents a basket of fruit on which a number of insects have gathered. On a pale yellow apple, which is the centerpiece in the cluster of fruit, is a large fly, painted so true to nature, so say the officials of the gallery, that the canvas was injured by some one who endeavored to "shoo" it and brought his cane or hand too close to the canvas. "A tribute to the painter's genius," says the letter recording the fact, "for which the work had to suffer."

Reason For His Disgust.

"He's disgusted with the way the politicians are running things in this town."

"Is that so?"

"Yes; he ran for office and was defeated."—Detroit Free Press.

Nibbles the Wood.

"I'm tired of this old joke about a woman sharpening a pencil with her husband's razor."

"There's nothing in it. No woman sharpens a pencil. She gnaws it to a point."—Pittsburg Post.

Too Near.

"What animal," said the teacher of the class in natural history, "makes the nearest approach to man?"

"The flea," timidly ventured the little boy with the curly hair.—Chicago Tribune.

IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles. A Charleroi Citizen Shows How to Cure Them

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they may lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Charleroi people testify to permanent cures.

Mrs. W. L. Evans, 104 Lookout avenue, Charleroi, Pa. say: 'Several years ago a member of my family complained of a dull pain in the small of the back and difficulty with the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills were used and proved so beneficial that when the person referred to recently began to suffer from kidney trouble again, Doan's Kidney Pills were immediately procured at Piper Bros.' Drug Store. They proved to be specific for disorders of the kidneys. I highly recommend this excellent preparation to other kidney sufferers."

OFFICIAL BOARD COMPLETING COUNT OF TUESDAY'S ELECTION RETURNS

Will Likely Finish Work Today With But Few Changes in Published Vote

ANDERSON PHILOSOPHICAL

Takes Defeat Graciously and Congratulates Judson on His Election to Represent District in Senate.

The official board appointed by the court to canvass the election returns of Washington county will probably complete its work today. Yesterday the count for Governor, Congress, State Senator and Assembly was completed, which reversed the result announced Thursday that A. H. Anderson, Republican, had won out for State Senate by a plurality of 65. The final official count shows that Judson, the Democratic-Keystone candidate, has a plurality in the district of 94. Berry leads Tener for Governor by 598 plurality. Matthews leads Wilson for Congress by 333 plurality, and Bentley's plurality over Post, his Democratic-Keystone opponent, is 289. Following is the official count:

Governor

Tener, R.	7,473
Tener, W. L.	48

Post, D.	1,632
Post, K.	5,789

Pluralities

Berry	598
Matthews	333
Anderson	711
Bentley	289

Mr. Anderson took his defeat philosophically and congratulated his opponent, J. Carter Judson. When the final result was announced Mr. Anderson issued the following statement:

"The result by the official count gives Mr. Judson a plurality and I have already tendered him my warmest congratulations. One should not enter into a political contest without realizing the uncertainty of it and with the determination to be disappointed at the result. I wish to thank all my friends for their enthusiastic support and especially my comrades of the Tenth Pennsylvania, both here and in Greene county for the unswerving loyalty and most effective work. Their disappointment at the result is my greatest regret and I appreciate their interest in my behalf more than any office or honor that could be conferred.

DONORA TO GET FREE DELIVERY

Houses Being Numbered and Sidewalks Being Laid

HEAVY POSTAL RECEIPTS

With sidewalks laid properly over the town and houses numbered Donora will shortly be ready for free delivery, an innovation for which the citizens of that place have waited vainly for the past six years. Donora has been entitled to free delivery for that time so far as postal receipts are concerned, but the town has been lacking in sidewalks and numbers on the houses. Borough Engineer E. Jay Iams recently completed an official numbering plan, which was adopted by council, and the work of numbering the houses is now going on. Sidewalks have been laid on nearly all the graded streets.

GOVERMENT LOCKS PUT OUT OF USE BY ACID IT THE WATER

Navigation Hindered by Destructive Tendencies of Discharge from Mines Along the Valley.

Not only does the acid in the river destroy boilers of boats and make the water almost unusuable, but it has been an active force in disabling some of the fine government locks, by eating the metal in the valves by which the lock chambers are filled and emptied and thus putting them out of commission. Lock No. 3 is one of these which has been recently disabled. Temporary repairs have been made so that navigation will not be entirely suspended at Lock No. 3, where the United States steamer Slackwater is making repairs. On this work a submarine diver is employed. The valves must be bulkheaded up, removed and repaired one at a time. They are found to be in bad shape from the acid. Many of the boats are now condensing the water they use in their boilers to save them from being eaten out by the acid. Many carry water tenders with them.

SUPPOSED ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE UNSUCESSFUL

GIVES NO REASON FOR UNWISE DEED

After having tried to commit suicide, it is said, by taking oil of cloves containing chloroform, Mrs. Mary Gilland, 21 years old, giving her residence as Monessen, is in the Monessen-Charleroi hospital and will likely live. The young woman, suffering terribly, was discovered by William Schick, of Monessen about 11 o'clock last night on the Monessen-Charleroi bridge, and she was brought to the office of Dr. J. K. Smith here, where the poison was removed from her stomach and she taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Gilland refused to give any reason for her act. At the doctor's office, it is stated, she said she was married and had three children, but had not been living with her husband, who is employed at East Charleroi. It is thought that domestic infelicity bought on the supposed suicidal attempt.

Word from the hospital this morning was to the effect that she was getting along all right and had every chance to recover. She was discovered just in time, and had not the prompt medical attention been given, the supposed attempt at self-destruction would have been successful.

AFFIDAVITS OF DEFENSE ARE FILED

Litigations at California Over Second Street Matter

Affidavits of defense have been filed in the prothonotary's office by Max Avner, C. Wesley Yarnell, Anna E. Billingsley, Edward B. Gallagher and Mary L. Harrison, who were sued by the borough of California for municipal claims. In their defense, the defendants claim that the borough of California made improvements on Second avenue without the consent of two-thirds of the property owners. Several points in the statement of the plaintiff borough are disputed. The defendants are represented by Walter G. Powell, Donnans, Brownson and Miller.

DRESSED TURKEYS MAY BE CHEAPER

Local Meat Dealer Predicts Drop in Price Below That of Last Year

FOR THANKSGIVING DINNER

"It looks as though dresed turkeys would be somewhat lower in price Thanks-giving time this year," said a local meat dealer this morning. "The price of chickens is below what it has been for some time and indications are that turkeys will not sell for so much as they did last year."

Turkeys over the country have been selling at 30 cents dressed and many dealers do not look for a drop in price, but the shipments of fowls from Greene county and West Virginia is expected to be effective in lowering the price.

GLASS MEN FINED FOR VIOLATIONS

Imperial Officials Enter Plea of Nolo Contender

JUDGE SCORES COMBINE

The Imperial Window Glass company, recently organized for the control of the hand blown window glass factories of the country with headquarters in Pittsburg, and which was prosecuted in United States court under the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law, entered a plea of no defense. This action took place in the Federal court in Pittsburg yesterday. Judge Young, the presiding justice, severely scored the corporation which had admittedly combined to control and monopolize trade, and imposed a fine of $500 on each of the officers and directors and fined the corporation as a whole $2,500. The Imperial Window Glass company embraces all the independent factories in this section of the State.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON CLUBS HAS SESSION

Mrs. A. C. Piper was the hostess as the regular fortnightly meeting of the Friday afternoon club at California yesterday afternoon. An interesting session was held. The entire time was devoted to fancy work. There were to have been reports made on the State Federation meeting but the appointed delegates had been unable to attend.

CHARLEROI SCHOOLS HAVE LARGE NUMBER OF PUPILS IN ATTENDANCE

Enrollment Boosted to 1912, as Shown by Second Month's Report of Supertendant

NEW TEACHER IS ELECTED

Will Take Place of Miss Davis, Resigned, in Seventh Grade of the Fifth Street School.

With just a quorum present at a called meeting of the school board last night, a successor to Miss Anna Davis, the Seventh grade teacher in the Fifth street school, who recently resigned, was elected and a report from Superintendent James G. Pentz for the second month of school was heard. Other unimportant matters were discussed.

Miss Elma Fuester of Belle Vernon was elected to serve in Miss Davis' place as teacher. She has been substituting since the resingation of Miss Davis a few weeks ago.

By the report of Supt. Pentz the total enrollment in the grades and in the high school was 1,912, of this number 1,848 being in the grades and 84 in the high school. The per cent of attendance in the schools for the month is 96 per cent, and for the term is the same. During the month there were 25 absent on account of contagious diseases, and 181 remained out of school voluntarily to assist in home work. One of the features of the report is the calls made on parents by teachers, 33 of these having been made. Seventy visits to the schools were made by parents and patrons. There are now 30 non-resident pupils in attendance, about the same number as at the beginning of the term.

A report of the truant officer, Gilbert Uptegraft, included in that of Supt. Pentz, showed that 235 cases of absentees were investigated during the month, only two of which were absent without legal excuse. Four prosecutions were made against parents for keeping their children out of school.

WILL PAVE ROSCOE STREETS AND LAY NUMBER OF SEWERS

Roscoe borough is getting ready for the making of extensive street improvements, the money for which will be secured through a bond issue. On Tuesday the voters of the borough passed by a large majority a proposition authorizing the issuing of bonds to the amount of $224,000. This sum will be expended in grading and paving streets, and sewering the same.

How to Come Back

"Coming Back," is an expression that has a special significance these days. It is applied to those who, beaten and defeated in the objects and aims of life, are enabled to make a new start along different lines, and to achieve success, independence and comfort in old age. "The Man who Came Back" is a popular newspaper and magazine topic these days.

Theoretical, as it may appear, the subject is worthy of serious consideration by those who find life a constant struggle. To these in most cases, there is a way out if they have but the courage to take the step that will lead them to comfort, independence and a simple and sane life. This is to go back to the soil, to get possession of a piece of land, and to produce from it the necessities and essentials of life. It can be done at the present time with less hardships and fewer self-denials that our forefathers endured in settling up this country, and of whose records we are so proud—to view from a distance.

With a piece of land every man is architect of his own fortune. A good living from it is only a matter of intelligent application and persistent effort, less than is expended by the worker for hire. There are no industrially depressions or panics to interfere with a living, no strikes or lockouts to intervene, and every man who so applies his labor has the full fruits of his own toil. Thousands of toilers in mill, mine and office who are fighting constantly for an existance can "come back" in this way if they have but the courage. All this is lacking is a choice between a competency and the false standard of living that makes peple virtual slaves.

Tener as Governor

"Edwin S. Stuart became Governor after a stormy campaign, which followed the exposures of the State Capitol frauds," says the Philadelphia Inquirer. "Much of the same element that opposed Tener opposed Stuart. The argument against him was that a Republican could not be trusted. Mr. Stuart's pledge was to go to the bottom of the capitol frauds and give Pennsylvania an honest and progressive administration. He kept every promise. Pennsylvania has presented to the entire country a model of good government.

"John K. Tener will succeed Governor Stuart. Mr. Tener has been assailed throughout the campaign but he too, like Stuart, made his pledges. Tener has pledged the people that he will give them an honest and progressive administration; that it shall be maintained on the plane of integrity aimed at by Governor Stuart; that he will serve the interests of the people not of individuals.

"The Inquirer believed that Stuart meant every word that he said and supported him—and Stuart won. The Inquirer believes that Tener means every word that he has said and it has supported him—and Tener has won.

"Throughout the nation the Republican party has been given a serious drubbing. Pennsylvania presents one of the few brihgt spots. But even in Pennsylvania the combined vote of Berry and Grim is greater than that given by the straight Republicans. The Republican party therefore is in a measure on trial. It has escaped the disaster that has befallen is many other Republican States. It must justify itself. And we believe that it will, through its representatives at Harrisburg, Governor Tener and the Legislature."

Party Allegiance

No doubt many who voted the Keystone ticket will be considering whether to remain with that party, if it endures, or to return to their former allegiances. As a matter of fact it is now generally believed that the most of the voters will return to their former party affiliations as there seems to be no disposition to perpetuate a Keystone organization in many of the localities where it showed up strongly at the recent election. The indications are that another campaign will witness the most of the voters back again in the two old parties.

Both the Republican and Democratic parties will at once take steps to repair the damage done to their party organizations by the recent sweep of insurgency. Each will try to remove conditions that promted the revolt, and each will make an effort to bring out the best possible candidates for public office. The primaries will be watched closes, and more attention paid to the selection of delegates to representative conventions. This will interpose more opposition to the Keystone party if an attempt is made to perpetuate it, and to endure it must build up a machine and organization, which will in time engender strife and dissension, just as has happened with the older parties. This will require infinitely more effort than if the voters returned to their respective parties, and made their fight for reform at the primary elections. This is the logical course, and already there are signs that it will be followed by the majority of the voters who took part in the Keystone movement.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

"Umm!" said to the telephone central by a woman has the same meaning as the more picturesque and more lurid language used by her husband on similar occasions.

There are two things the average man won't stand for. One is for a woman in a crowded street car and other is for his wife's biscuits.

According to the North American and some other such truthful productions, Mr. Tener received several votes that the other fellow should have had. That was real mean in him, so there.

"I also appreciate the large vote given me in my home section and the hard work of nearly all the precinct chairmen in my interest. To my opponent and his friends I have nothing but the heartiest thanks for the kind treatment I received from them all during the camaign. We should not let political matters interfere with personal friendships, for often a man has one or more friend candidates for the same office and if he is to lose the friendship of the one he does not support, he will be very apt to take no part or interest in the contest at all, and good government would thereby suffer, as it is highly important that every man should interest himself in his public officials.

"To have been the Senator representing the district of our distinguished Governor would have been a high honor, and while I have the greatest regret at not having it conferred upon me, yet I have long since learned that many things we most wanted, it is better in the end we should not have received. I made the best fight I possibly could, and believe in the words of our jurist-poet that "Reverse if in honor is victory won."

"ROYAL SLAVE" COMING TO THE COYLE

Like a fresh breath from the Southland is "A Royal Slave" the glorious southern romance which comes to the Coyle Theatre Monday night, November 14. It is a play that has been accepted as a drama of the highest standard, because of the intense interest which characteries it from curtain raise to curtain fall.

The many characters in the play are worthy of Dickens, that inimtiable creator of types, and the successful interpretation of the various roles demands as a requisite ability to deftly show a change from the deeply in earnest impetuous hot blooded Mexican vein almost instantly. This quality the members of the company bring to the impersonation of the various characters and invest them with a note of distinction softened and mellowed by true dignity. It is a triumph of character acting.

The company included a number of widely known players of ability and the play is mounted with the greatest of care to insure an absolutely perfect performance.

His Chance to Vote.

The chronicles of our vice presidents are notoriously barren of incident. This probably was the reason for the way Adlai Stevenson secured the exercise of a constitutional prerogative. It was one sleepy day toward the end of his term as vice president. The United States senate was plowing through the calendar and passing many bills. Bills are considered agreed to in the senate if no oral objection is raised after they have passed through the preliminary stages, but the usual form of asking for the yeas and nays is followed by the presiding officer. The vice president had said:

"Senators in favor of the bill will say 'Aye.'" Pause. "Contrary, 'No.'"

Not a single response.

"The vote is a tie," announced Mr. Stevenson.

The senator in charge of the bill paused on his way to the cloakroom and looked surprised.

"In case of a tie the vice president may cast the deciding vote. In the exercise of his constitutional privilege the vice president votes 'Aye.'"

The "Sun Drawing Water."

The phenomenon commonly known as the "sun drawing water" is due to rays of sunlight between the shadows of clouds. It is seen to best advantage when the atmosphere is somewhat hazy and when the sun is wholly or partly behind a cloud and is not in the higher part of the sky. Patchy stratocumulus clouds are most favorable for the formation of these rays, and they are probably most distinct when seen in the part of the sky below the sun, when they appear to extend either directly or somewhat obliquely downward. It is in this form that the effect is most commonly called the "sun drawing water." But such rays may extend in any direction, so that they diverge from the sun as a center. No rain need be falling anywhere near the observer, though it is not impossible for the rays to be visible at a time when rain streaks also are visible in part of the sky. The rain streaks, however, do not diverge from the sun, but are in lines of the falling rain.—St. Nicholas.

The Scleroscope.

This little American invention has been described as a kind of mechanical finger intended to discriminate by delicacy of touch between various substances submitted to it. The ready detection of the degree of hardness and elasticity of various surfaces is its special function. It consists essentially of a light weight, like the hammer of a pile driver, which is allowed to fall inside a tube placed upright on the surface to be tested. The bottom of the hammer, which weighs only a few grams, is finished with a blunted diamond, intended to give it the requisite hardness. After a fall it rebounds, and a carefully graduated scale on the tube, indicating the height of the rebound, shows the degree of hardness of the surface experimented with. On a piece of ordinary steel the hammer rebounds nine-tenths of the height of its fall.—Youth's Companion.

Women and the Commune.

"The mad fury which seemed to have taken possession of the mob in Paris found its most enthusiastic exponents in the women who were anxious to proceed to the extreme measures which the men deprecated," writes Lady St. Helier in her book "Memories of Fifty Years." "The organized corps de petroleuses were a savage crew, who had no feeling of pity or mercy in their hearts and would have sacrificed even those they loved most dearly to the cause which they had espoused. They co-operated actively with the commune, deluging what public buildings they could with petroleum and then setting light to them, and most of the fires that broke out in Paris on the entry of the troops originated through their action. They went down into the streets and fought at the barricades, showing superhuman courage, and when one of the great fights took place at the barricade in the Rue de la Paix, which was defended by the communists, the first person to mount it and to hoist the red flag of the revolution was a woman."

Cutting Off Noses.

Rameses II. of Egypt cut off the nose of any person convicted of treason or arson. Actisanes, another Egyptian ruler, punished robbers in the same way. After each nose had been amputated back even with the bridge the culprit was sent to a colony of noseless felons, the place of banishment being known as Rhinoconum, from the nature of the punishment its colonists had undergone.

In England in 1671 Lord Coventry, then "great keeper of the British seal," had his nose cut off by order of the king because he had dared to ask some questions about an actress then playing at Drury Lane theater.

A conscript who protested openly that he had been enrolled in the army of Frederick the Great in a fraudulent manner had his nose amputated by order of that sovereign, who spoke of the punishment as an "indelible mark on the front side of the face."

Demonstrative.

Old Lady (speaking of her late husband)—I mind the last time we was out together, and he turns round and sez, so kindlike, "Come along, old draggle-tail", he sez.—London Tit-Bits.

AMONG THE THEATRES

The Palace Charleroi.

"The Rough Riders" was the title of strong photo play at the Palace Theatre this week. It was a pretty romance of the Cuban campaign of the Spanish-American war. The story was that of a young volunteer in the Rough Riders who bade his sweetheart adieu to go and fight for his country. At the battle of Kettle Hill the young lieutenant is wounded, so badly that the surgeons give him up, but a Red Cross nurse declares that she will save him, and nurses the young soldier back to life. He falls in love with his fair nurse, marries her and returns home. There he meets his first sweetheart, who is heartbroken over her lover's perfidy. The old flame revives, and the young man writes a letter, proposing to his first love to elope. Sitting in the glow of the firelight, he rebuffs his wife when she approaches him and she retires. Pondering deeply upon the step he is about to take the young man takes the letter he has written from his pocket and re-reads it. Slowly there rises before him a picture of his hospital experience when he was nursed back to life by the devotion of the girl he married, and he tears the letter in two and commits it to the flames. There were other strong features every night, as well as good illustrated and spot light songs and orchestral music.

The Coyle—Charleroi

A strong feature has been secured for the Coyle Theatre in Charleroi next week. This is "A Royal Slave," a Mexican romance, which will be presented Monday night, November 14. It may be of interest to know that an actual incident furnished the author of "A Royal Slave" with the initial idea out of which this great play was evolved. The little item of news appeared in the daily papers at that time. It is as follows:

A wealthy Mexican gentleman who was known to possess a vast hidden estate suddenly disappeared and was finally given up by his family. Several years later a gang of celebrated bandits were surprised and captured in their stronghold and a poor insane man rescued. He was taken to a hospital in the City of Mexico where an operation of trepanning the skull was performend on him, his reason returning. He proved to be the ong lost gentleman who had been captured by the bandits, who, in trying to force him to the the hiding place of his fortune had struck him a blow on the head which dinted the skull and rendered him insane. He had been a captive for years, the bandits hoping that he might remember in his half lucid moments the much coveted secret hiding place and reveal it.

The Alvin—Pittsburg.

Lew Field's mammoth musical production, "The Midnight Son," with practically the same cast which was seen for 3 weeks at the Broadway Theatre, New York, comes to the Alvin Theatre on Monday night. The play is truthfully said to be the biggest production, both scenically and in point of largeness of cast, of any musical play ever staged. The featured scene—there are ten in all—shows the tiers of boxes, the orchestra seats, the balcony and even the gallery of a practical theatre. It is this reproduction so faithfully carried out which has caused "The Midnight Sons" to be talked of from one end of the country to the other, much credit, of course, should be given to the principal performers who add so much to the interest and fun of the play. Some idea as to the extent of the wardrobe department may be gained from the fact that there are 80 members of the chorus, both boys and girls, while the cast of 125 people is augmented in each city by 200 supernumeraries, who are employed to take part in the theatre scene. The pieces will be given here in its entirety by the original metropolitan cast, including George Monroe, Harry Fisher, Maude Lambert, George A. Shiller, Denman Maley, Marcia Harris, Allan Brooks, Gus Bacci and a special vaudeville company, including the marvelous Millers, Gladys Moore, The English Pony Ballet and a number of other specialties. Matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday, the Wednesday matinee being for the benefit of the Home of the Good Shepherd.

New Duquesne—Pittsburg.

That great emotional success "Zira," which made a star out of Margaret Aglin and afforded her one of the most brilliant triumphs of her career, is to be the intensely dramatic offering at the Duquesne Theatre next week, where Mary Hall is to portray Miss Anglin's heart-touching and appealing role of Hester Trent. The full force of the Harry Davis Stock players will be utilized in the heavy cast of this play, with its open scenes on the battlefield of the Boer war and its later pictures of modern aristocratic London life. The story of the play is taken from Wilkie Collins' famous romance of "The New Magdalen," with its heroine, Mercy Merrick, brought up-to-date in the new character of Zira, or Hester Trent. Hester is a Red Cross nurse in the Transvaal at the opening of the play. She has had an unhappy past and the prospect of a happier future is suddenly blighted for her by the death of her father Mark Trent, scout in the British army, who falls in skirmish. It is then that the supreme temptation comes into the unfortunate Hester's life for a woman visitor to the British camp unexpectedly pays the penalty of her perilous journey through the lines by being shot down during a sudden bombardment by the enemy. Hester believes her to be dead, and in this great crisis of her life determines to assume the identity of the supposed slain woman. Circumstances enable her to do this most successfully, and she passes out of the camp, leaving—as she dreams—all of her past life behind her. In her despair she does not consider that she has done any wrong to the victim of death. But the woman has not been killed. She is saved as if by miracle and returns, like a ghost, to confront the new, false Zira in the midst of her London surroundings. Mrs. Wheatcroft as Lady Clavering, Edson Miles as her son Gordon, Albert Morrison as Captain Sylvester and Dennis Harris as the scout, Mark Trent, will all have impersonation of deeply human import.

The Grand—Pittsburg

Notably artist, the Grand's program of vaudeville for the week beginning next Monday afternoon, November 14, Mr. William H. Thompson holds the place of honor upon the roaster. With the support of four other gifted players, he will present Mildred Aldrich's one act play entitled "The Cardinal's Stratagem."

The costumes and scenery coincide with the period protrayed and the action is intensely and emotionally dramatic. The supporting company includes Evangeline Irving, a sister of Isabelle Irving, Nella Neurnelle, Harriet Wright and Richard R. Neal.

The distinguished Hugarian pianist, Wlimos Westony will make his debut here. He has been a sensation in this country. Mr. Westony is an artist who has a marvelous command of the mechanics of the piano and a wonderful intellectual and interpretative power.

Clown Zertho and his canine comedians numbering some twenty shaggy dogs, will entertain with comedy and tricks. There are big and little dogs, dogs of every specie, but all under the benevolent direction of the funny clown, who has taught them to obey his very command and under those guidance they have developed an intelligence almost human.

Hoey and Lee, patterers and parodists will amuse in their Hebrew dialects.

Chassino, the world's greatest shadowaphist, by means of his dexterous digits and pedal extremities will fashion life-like silhouettes behind a sceen.

Numerous other artists will contribute to their talents to a program of distinctive classes—a program in which all acts dovetail and harmonize with the artistic headliner.

The Nixon—Pittsburg

At the Nixon Theatre beginning tomorrow evening and continuing throughout the week, F. Ziegfeld, Jr., will present his latest and most elaborate revue "The Follies of 1910." The revue of th's season is in three acts and thirteen brilliantly illuminated scenes. Harry B. Smith supplied the book while Gus Edwards and many others composed the tuneful music. The work was staged by Julian Mitchell under the personal supervision of F. Ziegfeld, Jr., who promises an endless number of amazing surprises and startling novelties, the most important of which is a musical number rendered by Miss Lillian Lorraine and eight American beauties entitled "Swing Me High, Swing Me Low" in which Miss Lorraine swings over the heads of the audience while singing the song. Bickel and Watson's Roosevelt Band, is also said to be a highly diverting novelty, while Bert Williams, the celebrated colored comedian and singer never fails to plesse. Among the numerous and interesting stage pictures will be observed, "A View of New York From the Metropolitan Tower, "Office of the Get Poor Quick Syndicate," "A Street in a Reno" "Halley's Comet," posed by Miss Anna Held, "An Apple Blossom Grove" "Cafe del' Opera New York, "Jardin de Paris Summer and Winter Garden, New York," "A Model Hennery" "The Return of Roosevelt" and "A Dress Rehearsal of the Follies of 1910." The cast includes the names of more than 150 musical comedy players. In same will be noted such popular talent as Bickel and Watson, Bert Williams, Bobby North, William C. Shrode, Billie Reeves, W. Wenis, Imperial Russian Dancer, Dudley Oatman, Peter Swift, Max Schenck, Charles Hesson, Lillian Lorraine, Fanny Brice, Shirley Kellogg Vera Maxwell, Evelyn Carlton, Margaret Morris, Lillian St. Clair, Florence Gardner, Fanny Conway, Lottie Vernon, Arline Roley, Betty Neil, Daisy Virginia, May Hopkins, Evelyn Korner, Bessie Fennell, and seventy five Anna Held girls. Monday night for the first time Mr. Ziegfeld will introduce a skit on the famous Cavalieri-Chanler affair. Miss Lillian Lorraine will be seen as Lina, Harry Watson as Bob and George Bickel as the Count. During the engagement of the "Follies" there will be matinees on Wednesday and Saturday both of which will be popular prices.

Two Dimensional Vision.

Most people do not know that they ought to be very thankful for having both eyes in one plane instead of having them one on each side of the head. If the latter obtained no one could tell that an object had more than two dimensions until experience and the sense of touch educated the brain to it. Any one can try it for himself. Shut one eye and look at different objects. They appear flat. With binocular vision two views of each object are obtained and neither is exactly like the other, so the idea of depth comes in.

The most easily shown example of the difference is as follows: Take a ring and hold it about two feet from the eye. With one eye closed it will take at least five trials to thrust a pencil through the ring, whereas with both eyes open it can be done on the first trial.

All animals with eyes on opposite sides of the head labor under this disadvantage, as do all insects. It is called two dimensional vision, as the idea of depth is not possible. All this is on account of the image thrown on the retina of the eye being in only two dimensions.—Philadelphia Press.

Woodcarvers of Burma.

The woodcarvers of Burma are the most skilled in the world. They select and cut the best logs along the Irawaddy river in the dry season, and these are thrown into the shrunken stream. There they lie until the freshets of the rainy season lift them and bear them down to the populous cities below.

Then huge elephants are employed to drag the heavy logs from the stream and take them to the sawmills. They are then worked up into timbers suitable for the woodcarvers. The carvers use the figure of Buddha or some other emblem concerning the Buddhistic worship in the greater part. The details are worked out in a careful way.

Sterns of boats are carved in an elaborate manner, and some of them would be worth a fortune in this country. The prow of the boat is usually ornamented with a figurehead of very elaborate carving. The art of woodcarving is handed down in the families in Burma, the children being taught by their fathers.—Wichita Eagle.

Trial of a Dead Man.

Mr. Christopher Hare's book on "Charles de Bourbon, High Constable of France," mentions the strange trial which succeeded the close of that turbulent career. He had died in conquering Rome, which his leaderless soldiers straightway sacked. For this crime it was necessary to find a scapegoat, so "on July 26, 1527, in the presence of King Francois I., on his seat of justice, assisted by the peers of France and the assembled chambers, Jean de Surie, first usher of the court, called Charles de Bourbon three times—at the bar of the parliament, at the marble table and at the marble steps—and then reported that the said De Bourbon had not appeared. The sentence was drawn up, then solemnly read out: 'The connetable de France, dead, was condemned, his goods returned to the crown, and the door of his palace by the Louvre was painted yellow.'"

A Realistic Picture.

A still life by Jan van Huysen in the museum at The Hague was injured, but it is believed that the perpetrator was neither vandal nor thief. The picture represents a basket of fruit on which a number of insects have gathered. On a pale yellow apple, which is the centerpiece in the cluster of fruit, is a large fly, painted so true to nature, so say the officials of the gallery, that the canvas was injured by some one who endeavored to "shoo" it and brought his cane or hand too close to the canvas. "A tribute to the painter's genius," says the letter recording the fact, "for which the work had to suffer."

Reason For His Disgust.

"He's disgusted with the way the politicians are running things in this town."

"Is that so?"

"Yes; he ran for office and was defeated."—Detroit Free Press.

Nibbles the Wood.

"I'm tired of this old joke about a woman sharpening a pencil with her husband's razor."

"There's nothing in it. No woman sharpens a pencil. She gnaws it to a point."—Pittsburg Post.

Too Near.

"What animal," said the teacher of the class in natural history, "makes the nearest approach to man?"

"The flea," timidly ventured the little boy with the curly hair.—Chicago Tribune.

IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles. A Charleroi Citizen Shows How to Cure Them

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they may lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Charleroi people testify to permanent cures.

Mrs. W. L. Evans, 104 Lookout avenue, Charleroi, Pa. say: 'Several years ago a member of my family complained of a dull pain in the small of the back and difficulty with the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills were used and proved so beneficial that when the person referred to recently began to suffer from kidney trouble again, Doan's Kidney Pills were immediately procured at Piper Bros.' Drug Store. They proved to be specific for disorders of the kidneys. I highly recommend this excellent preparation to other kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
